Dear Mr. Fisher:

Under separate cover, I am sending you for the Library of the Western Reserve Numismatic Club, a copy of the Catalogue of the Exhibition of United States and Colonial coins, held in our Museum in 1914. It is illustrated with 39 half-tone plates, depicting many of the Colonial issues as well as patterns and coins from 1794 onward.

You will note that this Exhibition lasted only a month, and as the delivery of the Catalogue was delayed it never received the attention it deserves, and did not reach those interested in this series unless they attended the Exhibition itself. Many of the pieces are historically important, and the price of One Dollar, for which it sells, does not cover the cost of the book's preparation. May I ask you to read this letter to the members of your Club, and ascertain whether any of them desire copies?

I am also enclosing a list of other publications of The American Numismatic Society, in the hope that some of these books may be of interest to your members. Will you please post this list where your members will see it?

Will you also inform me whether the Western Reserve Numismatic Club has a complete set of the American Journal in its library? If not, we are prepared to offer to complete your file at half-price, or, provided you do not require certain scarce numbers of Vols. 1-VI, will go even further, and as long as our full files hold out, will complete your set at a maximum cost to you of Fifty Dollars.

These offers are made at this time in order to obtain funds for our library. The proceeds of these publications have been set aside for this purpose by our Council. Your co-operation will thus serve a double purpose, and I shall greatly appreciate anything you may be able to do in our library's behalf.

Dear Sir:-

At Mr. E. T. Newall's suggestion, I am calling to your attention a collection of Chinese Coins formerly the property of the Yenching University and the North China Union Language School of Peking. This set of coins belonged to Rev. Mr. Ament who died sometime ago in China. Mr. Newall stated that you might be interested in the purchase of this entire collection.

It has not arrived in Cleveland as yet, although I am in receipt of shipping ticket. It will be released to me as soon as the custom house formalities have been completed.

I understand that a complete collection of coins is included with the shipment, together with Whlie's Notes on Chinese Literature; Chinese vocabularies; Jos. Edkins on Chinese currency, together with other books on Chinese Coins.

If this collection is of any interest to you, I believe I can arrange to have it sent on to New York for examination.

Won't you advise me if you are interested?

With kind regards, I am,

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir:

At the present time I do not know where I could advise you to dispose of your collection of Chinese coins, about which you write. Similar collections appear in the market every little while, and I am negotiating for one of our members regarding one of these collections. If this should fall through, I will advise him concerning yours. The only other interested party of whom I know, is now in China. However, I will keep your letter and bear in mind what you have.

Have you a catalogue of this Collection which we could look over; and we should also like to have some idea of the price desired, and any further details with which you could furnish us.

My dear Mr. Wood:-

I am in receipt of a letter today from Mr. Ament which explains itself. I am enclosing the monograph about which he speaks. The above is really in answer to your favor of September 12th and as previously advised, I have not opened the coins since they arrived from the Orient.

You will note that Mr. Ament desires me to put a valuation on the collection. This I am unable to do without someones assistance, who is versed in Chinese Numismatics.

Probably the best thing to do would be to ship the case intact, to you for examination, or should your friend be in the vicinity of Cleveland, I will be glad to open the case in his presence, and go over it with him.

Dear Mr. Fisher:

I have been in communication with my friend who is interested in your Chinese collection - Mr. Frank I. Liveright, of Bamberger & Co., Newark, N.J. Mr. Liveright sees no chance of coming to Cleveland, nor do I, and I would suggest that you send the collection to the American Numismatic Society at the above address. We should be glad to examine it here, and make an offer if it proves such a collection as Mr. Liveright desires.

How large and heavy is the case! We should prefer its being sent by Express, if possible, as we have no convenient way of getting it here from the freight yards.

Dear Sir:

The case containing the Chinese collection came last evening. As yet I have had no chance to open it.

The so-called Razor money is really Knife money. This was one of the early forms of Chinese currency. Forks, so-called, round pieces and several other shapes were also so employed. This conception of making money was derived probably from the barter stage of transactions.

My dear Mr. Wood:-

I have your favor of October 1st and your pen notation on this, that you are greatly disappointed in it and that most of the razor coins are fakes. I am sorry to hear this as I am handling this matter purely as a matter of friendship.

The writer and Mr. Cathcart, at the time we looked at the money, also had doubts as to the genuineness of the razor money and that's what prompted my question in the letter of the 24th. However, is there no market for the coins? I am today in receipt of a letter from William S. Ament of Claremont, California, asking me for my opinion on it.

With kind regards, I am,

Charles H. Fisher, Esq.
Cleveland, Ohio

Dear Mr. Fisher:

I was on the point of writing when your letter came. I have looked over the collection, and so has Mr. Liveright. He is willing to buy this collection at a price. I have looked through it carefully, and have placed a tentative value of $200.00 on it. This may seem to you very small, but the fact is that with about a dozen exceptions, every coin which is worth anything proves to be a counterfeit. The bulk of the collection is common, and most of the coins in not an over good condition; the value very largely is in the large pieces of the 1850 period. The few books are of little value.

I have been holding off writing to you as a prominent collector of Chinese coins in China is now in New York, and he knows values from the Chinese standpoint. I have been trying to get him to come up here to value the collection also.

This collection is like many others formed by Missionaries. They have not the money to spend and cannot buy rarities; consequently, the bulk of the pieces they have are the same as everybody else has. I will write you again as soon as I can get another appraisal on the collection, as I want to value it fairly.

Very truly yours,

Curator

Dear Mr. Fisher:

Since my last letter to you, I have had two other people look through the collection of Chinese coins. One, ^{who} knows the market thoroughly in China, told me that the collection could be duplicated there for about One Hundred Dollars. He pointed out that a number of the more modern coins were counterfeits also. However, we are prepared to give Two Hundred Dollars as suggested in my previous letter, and I will hold the collection here until I hear further from you.

Dear Mr. Newell:

You and the writer have missed each other for a number of years, but I am going to be in New York City on Monday on some other business and will arrive there on Sunday, and will be at the Hotel New Yorker.

I am bringing along with me for your examination three Indian Peace Medals, cuts of which are enclosed.

There is very little I need to tell you about these three medals, except that I have the name and complete history of the recipient, all being given to one Indian Chief, the date of the presentations and the name of the General who made these presentations.

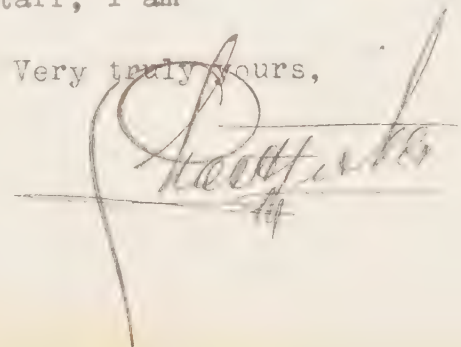

They are as the cuts show, in very fine condition, and I know the Society will be interested in them, and they will appear in the next catalogue or my auction sale.

Knowing our Society owns the largest collection of Indian Peace Medals known, I am taking the subject up with you at an early date, so that the Society may have the first opportunity of acquiring them.

If the Society is open on Sunday, I will be glad to come out, bringing the medals along for your inspection. I can be reached at the Hotel.
